"Excalibur" Table Lamp

Ettore Fantasia & Gino Poli, "excalibur" table lamp, Italy, 1970s

A bold and sculptural design, the Excalibur table lamp by Ettore Fantasia and Gino Poli embodies the expressive spirit of late 20th-century Italian lighting. The composition features a circular chromed base from which a series of vertically rising, textured glass elements emerge, creating a dramatic architectural silhouette.

The hand-formed glass in a rich purple tone diffuses the light softly, while the polished metal structure provides a sharp, reflective contrast. Both functional and highly decorative, Excalibur reads as a luminous sculpture, an object that commands attention even when unlit.

A distinctive statement piece that captures the theatrical elegance of Italian design.
