Model 72 Dining Chair, Set of 4

Eero Saarinen for Knoll International, model 72 dining chair, United States, 1972 (see original label)

The Saarinen Model 72 Dining Chair by Knoll International is a true design icon. Introduced in 1950 by Finnish-American architect Eero Saarinen, it reflects his signature vision of sculptural simplicity and refined modernism.

Defined by its elegant pedestal base and gently curved shell, the chair offers both visual lightness and ergonomic comfort. This particular piece has been reupholstered in Premium Pierre Frey “Yeti” fabric, a richly textured, hairy bouclé that adds depth, tactility, and a distinctive bespoke character.

Timeless yet expressive, the Model 72 remains a celebrated symbol of mid-century design, seamlessly blending innovation, craftsmanship, and elevated materiality.

This specific set was made in 1972 under license of Knoll by wb-form in Switzerland, see label.
