Murano Glass and Metal Table Lamp

Unknown designer, murano glass and metal table lamp, Italy, 1970s

This striking Italian table lamp combines Murano glass with polished metal in a bold yet refined design. The rounded opaline glass body emits a soft, diffused glow, while the sculptural chrome upper section acts as both reflector and architectural frame.

The recessed metal top, with its concentric circular detailing, enhances the play of light and adds depth to the design. The contrast between the luminous glass and the cool, reflective metal creates a balanced dialogue between warmth and precision, characteristic of Italian lighting from the 1960s–70s.

Compact yet impactful, this piece works beautifully as an accent lamp on a side table, desk, or bedside setting, offering both atmospheric illumination and sculptural presence.
