86T Rocking Stool

Isamu Noguchi for Vitra, 86t rocking stool, United States, 2001

Originally designed by Isamu Noguchi in 1954, the Rocking Stool is one of the designer's most sculptural and unconventional seating designs. Rather than relying on a traditional four-legged construction, Noguchi explored the relationship between tension, balance and geometry, resulting in a stool that appears almost weightless while remaining remarkably stable.
