Sculptural Space Age Glass Table Lamp

Unknown designer, sculptural space age glass table lamp, 1970s

This sculptural Space Age table lamp of the late 1960s to 1970s is a striking example of European modernist lighting design. Executed in exceptionally heavy clear glass, the lamp features a bold geometric composition with suspended spherical elements encased within a rectangular glass body. The presence of delicate air bubbles throughout the glass adds depth and movement, emphasizing the handcrafted character of the item.
